We're here to help you not just get your fair share, but your unfair share.

We know you're sick & tired of all the negativity. All you have to do is turn on the news & it's one thing after another. It's so easy to feel paralyzed: in your career, personal life, dreams, vision, & goals.
And ya know, what? We're tired of that, too...

- Do you feel like you're stuck in neutral & it's impacting your sales?
- Do you feel lost, confused, need guidance, & want to improve yourself?
- We can help you bring your head trash to the curb.

YOU can be the top salesperson you always wanted to be.

Become better at prospecting, business development, listening, organizational skills, closing deals, & so much more.

Join us for a day of inspiration, motivation, learning, & sharing...in an interactive, collaborative, hands-on workshop.

On Thursday, September 24, 2015, from 8:30am – 2pm in Sparta, business owners, sales managers, & salespeople from product & service industries, will come together to learn from a combined 60+ years of real, in-the-trenches experience from two very talented sales experts. Casey Carpenter & Dan Hollis each have an innate ability to transfer wisdom, confidence, & enthusiasm to everyone with whom they are in contact. Register today for the first of these monthly workshops:

ABOUT THE PRESENTERS:

Casey Carpenter launched The Sales Breakthrough Coach to support professionals who have to sell, yet don't want to be pushy or sound "salesy". A wallflower turned dynamic business-builder, Casey believes that anyone can improve his or her sales skills with the right training and the right mentor. She is the author of Introverts in Sales: How to Turn Your Peaceful Power into a Profitable Selling Machine – a sales survival guide for introverts, soon to be released. During her 25 years of corporate sales, Coach Casey managed teams and trained more than 500 salespeople at three Fortune 500 companies. Today, when Casey works with clients, she finds it most rewarding to share her techniques for overcoming "sales shyness," and how introverts can excel in business development and closing sales.

Dan Hollis is the Founder & Sales Trainer / Coach of The Magic of Selling. He is also the author of The Magic of Selling: A Treasure Map to Bigger and Better Sales, as well as an accomplished radio host. Dan spent over 28 years in outside sales, primarily in media: print, radio, television, and film. He decided to become a full-time sales trainer in 2014, in an attempt to help sales people sell more effectively, sharing the enthusiasm and wisdom with which he has been blessed. He loves selling and loves to teach the art of selling. Helping others is his biggest reward.
